

Americade The 2004 RoadRUNNER Lunch Ride

🔊 Full bellies mean it's time to ride.

This year marked the first one that RoadRUNNER magazine has sponsored a lunch tour at Americade. The self-guided tour featured some of the best roads the Adirondack Mountains have to offer, and the rides were held Tuesday through Friday. Those involved met for a great buffet lunch at the White Holland House Restaurant in Gloversville, New York, each day. Members of the RoadRUNNER staff were on hand to greet the riders coming in to recharge their batteries before the afternoon rides. We always appreciate the chance to meet our readers and riders, and sincerely hope that everyone had as much fun as we did.

RoadRUNNER would like to thank Chris Schmidt and the entire staff at the White Holland House Restaurant for providing a great venue and some mighty fine eats; Americade King Don Gomo for being there every day but one (bike trouble), and especially, all of you who came out and made our afternoons so enjoyable. We look forward to seeing everyone again next year.

🔊 *RoadRUNNER's luncheon spot:
the White Holland House.*

